Marketing your property

Extensive Internet Marketing

95% of all property searches in the UK are now done online!

Altogether, the top three property portals - Rightmove, Primelocation and Zoopla - entertain 16+ million user sessions per month. These figures serve to show how enormously popular online property searches have become. We advertise on these three website, plus many more!

We also receive a huge amount of local traffic through our own comprehensive website. Once a prospective buyer enters our website they are able to easily search through our available properties to find the perfect property for them. We offer details descriptions, room measurements, attached brochures, an unlimited number of high quality photographs, virtual tours, floor plans and EPCs. Buyers are able to arrange a viewing online, or to save the property to their personal list of favourites. Buyers are also able to register for email alerts every time a new property matching their requirements is added to our website.

4

We take a great deal of pride and care in creating eye catching brochures for all of our properties, which include an unlimited number of high quality photographs, detailed descriptions, room measurements, floor plans and maps. These impressive brochures will help to show off your property to its full potential and entice potential buyers to view, whilst also helping to avoid wasting your time by carrying out viewings with Buyers to which your property would not be suited. They are available to download online and we also keep a stock of brochures ready in our office for all walk in enquiries.

Once you have instructed us to market your property for sale brochures are immediately emailed to all matching buyers on our database. We also follow this up with a telephone call in order to introduce your property to the market. We also operate a traditional mailing list to those applicants that prefer this option.

All of our available properties are also displayed within our stunning interactive property magazine, which is currently emailed to more than 13,000 people within our database every fortnight.

Situated next to Costa Coffee on Fore Street our office is in a prime retail position within the town centre. We advertise our available properties on full colour illuminated A3 window cards in the large display windows of our office. Your property will therefore be displayed to a large number of potential clients on a daily basis.

Exceptional photography

With over 95% of all property searches now done online, it is our firm belief that high quality photography and floor plans sell property!

We offer exceptional photography as standard, and our in house photographer has the equipment and skills to ensure that your property stands-out from the crowd. In order for a property to achieve its full market value it is essential that it should be presented in the best possible light.

Whether it is due to the pictures simply attracting more people, which can then create some healthy competition, or because the first impression people had of a home was an excellent one, the fact remains that pictures will help a home stand-out and command a higher price.

Presenting your property

Attention to detail

In our experience a well presented property can significantly enhance the appeal to potential buyers. We are always happy to give specific advice on this matter during valuations, however, here are some helpful tips that you may find useful:

First impressions

Stand in the street outside your property and try to imagine seeing it for the first time. Most Buyers will see your property for the first time from that same vantage point as they drive or walk past. At this point they often make a decision whether or not to view. If Buyers see a fence that needs painting, an untidy garden or dirty windows, it is likely that their interest will be lessened.

Creating space

It is very important to make each room appear as spacious as possible. It may be necessary to store some furniture with a friend, a self-storage company or in the garage to 'open-up' rooms and hallways. Opening the curtains and blinds to allow as much natural light as possible will brighten up the property and again help accentuate the feeling of spaciousness. Similarly, trees and shrubs which shade windows may need to be pruned to increase natural light.

Interior decor

It is rarely worth spending large sums on your interior, but do make sure to undertake any small repairs required. Keeping up to date with the smaller jobs shows you have cared for the property.

If redecorating needs to be done, select light and neutral decor. The chosen colours may not necessarily be to your own taste, but they will appeal to the broadest range of purchasers.

Atmosphere & ambience

Creative ideas

Ask any Buyer why they bought a particular property and they'll probably give you a lot of very practical reasons such as position, style and price. But never underestimate the power of emotion. "It just felt right."

A few ideas that can create that special atmosphere during inspections include:

- Vases of fresh flowers
- A cosy open fire in Winter
- Wash and store dishes
- Clean work surfaces
- Make up beds
- Open curtains and blinds
- Turn on lights in dark rooms or passage ways
- Put toys away
- Neutralise cooking and pet odours and replace them with the aroma of coffee brewing or a freshly baked cake

Further tips

- Weed and cultivate the garden beds
- Add a splash of colourful flowers to the garden
- Remove rubbish
- Repair and paint where necessary
- Ensure fences are in good order
- Clean walls, floors and windows
- Clean dust and cobwebs from the exterior
- Steam clean carpets (if necessary)
- Repair items such as dripping taps, sticking doors and drawers
- Remove all unnecessary articles from cupboards. It has to be done eventually. Better to do it now and display the full value of your storage
- Create an entrance or decorate a dull garden with pot plants and garden furniture that can be taken with you

Energy Efficiency Rating

Environmental Impact Rating

EPC's & Solicitors

It is a legal requirement that all properties advertised for sale or to let should have a valid Energy Performance Certificate (EPC), this records how energy efficient a property is as a building and provides A-G ratings. This has to be prepared by an accredited assessor and the rating must be displayed on all marketing materials. An EPC is valid for 10 years.

An EPC is always accompanied by a recommendation report that lists cost effective and other measures (such as low and zero carbon generating systems) to improve the energy rating. A rating is also given showing what could be achieved if all the recommendations were implemented.

Solicitors & Conveyancing

Once an offer has been accepted on your property you will need to choose a solicitor or conveyancer. We are proud to have formed an association with Bishop Longbotham & Bagnall (BLB) in Trowbridge and we can highly recommend their services. The property team at BLB specialise in residential conveyancing. Working as quickly as possible, they provide an efficient, thorough and friendly service, on a 'NO EXCHANGE, NO FEE' basis.

Once solicitors have been instructed we will liaise between all parties in order to ensure as little hassle for yourself as possible. We will be in touch on a regular basis until the moment of completion, endeavouring to keep all parties up to date with relevant information in order to ensure that the process runs as quickly and smoothly as possible.

9

Calculating stamp duty

10

What is stamp duty?

Stamp duty land tax (or Land and Buildings Transaction Tax in Scotland) is a lump-sum tax that anyone buying a property or land costing more than a set amount has to pay. The rate you'll pay the tax at varies based on the price of the property and the type (we'll focus on residential buildings, rather than commercial).

What rate will I have to pay?

As the price you pay for a new property increases, so do the rates of stamp duty. You pay a percentage of the cost, and the rate payable leaps up at a set of thresholds - but, you only pay the proportion of the purchase price that's actually above the thresholds at the higher rate.

PURCHASE PRICE	STANDARD RATE
Up to £250,000	0%
£250,001 to £925,000	5%
£925,001 to £1.5 million	10%
£1.5 million +	12%

Correct from 23rd September 2022

The rates are different for first-time buyers

First-time buyers do not currently pay any stamp duty on the first £425,000, providing that the value of the property purchase is no more than £625,000.

How do I pay stamp duty?

The crucial thing to know is that, wherever in the UK you're buying, you have 30 days from the date of completion/date of entry (when all the contracts are signed and dated and you get keys - read our Buying a Home guide for full timeline) to pay stamp duty or transaction tax. Take longer and you could face a fine and possibly interest on top, so don't! In reality, your solicitor will probably sort this out and push you to pay the bill straight away - in fact, most tend to want their cash before completing the property purchase for you, just in case you then can't or don't pay them. However, it's legally your responsibility to ensure your stamp duty/transaction tax is paid.

Higher rates for additional properties

You'll usually have to pay 3% on top of the standard stamp duty rates if buying a new residential property means you'll own more than one.

You will not pay the additional 3% if the property you are buying is replacing your main residence and that has already been sold. However, if you have not sold your main residence on the day you complete on your new purchase you will have to pay the higher rates. This is because you own 2 properties. You can then apply for a refund of the additional 3% if you sell your main home within 36 months.
